GLOBAL FREIGHT MANAGEMENT

A Commitment to Excellence

Welcome

Transportation isn't just about moving things from one part of the world to another.

It's about people. The people who do the planning. The people who administer the moving. The people who do the tracking, the checking and who carry out the physical execution. It's about their experience and their expertise.

It's also about their commitment to excellence. It's about their reliability and their skill in having the right equipment in the right place at the right time and using it in the right way. It's about their geographical aptitude, the way they traverse the globe, and it's about their ability to appreciate the local picture as well as the world-wide dimension.

We always prefer to be measured on how these people work as a team, the way they blend specialist skills into a tightly organised, smooth running working unit and how swiftly and efficiently they can put those talents into action.

Our clients know the kind of people we are and that's why they work with us...time and time again.

The content of this brochure tells you a little about the people who work for Transcar, what we do, how we do it and why we do it our way.

For us to make a real contribution to your business, we'll need to talk. To listen. Because, to us, clients and partners are people too. People with expectations, demands and deadlines. In fact, the most important people in our world.

Our Service

Behind our work lies a simple philosophy...

Heavy or awkward freight is shipped more safely and effectively by a lean and streamlined organisation.

That's why at Transcar we relish the challenge of heavy, oversized cargo and project driven deadlines. Forty years of experience has taught us that there is a right way and a wrong way to manage and transport project cargo.

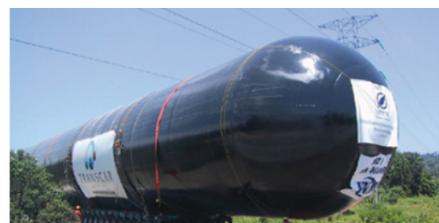

The right way is to use experts every step of the way. At sea, in the air and on land. The right way is to research rigorously and apply punctilious detail to tried and trusted methods, examining the special logistical characteristics of every single movement and to anticipate problems, whether apparent or unforeseen.

The right way is to have your own highly trained people who have a precise understanding of their role

The right way is to have contingency resources available and to have in-built channels of innovation at constant readiness.

The right way is to have your own highly trained people who have a precise understanding of their role and what is expected of them. It's also imperative to place these experts in the right ports, transport centres and remote locations so they are in position to personally manage route surveys, transportation and unloading the associated operations at each point.

Many of the world's largest and most successful companies have discovered that the right way to ship their cargo is under the management of Transcar. For them, any other way is the wrong way.

About Transcar

You don't become successful in transport management by accident. Nor does it happen overnight. You get there via a long, deliberate programme of investment and planning.

That's what has taken us to the forefront of the International transportation community. In the past four decades, we have assembled a fully integrated global team dedicated to offering a comprehensive solution, aligned with every transportation need.

On-call twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week and completely dedicated

We have hand-picked professionals keen to work in partnership with clients and who understand that their commitment must be total. That means being pro-active, on-call twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week and completely dedicated.

That means an ability to relate to clients, to understand their pressures and needs. That means a passion for excellence with the knowledge that, in our world, 'good enough' is simply not good enough.

That means intelligence, the power to provide the best answer to any problem and skill to acquire safe and effective transport solutions at appropriate cost levels without ever sacrificing quality. These are stringent requirements that only the best in our industry possess. If they can deliver, we hire them.

Dedicated to Project Logistics

Expertise

Every single person in our world-wide partnership is a project logistics specialist, based in the key operating centres of the globe.

Because we know many logistical requirements are both a global and a local phenomenon, we will always have active control centres positioned in the heart of the countries where project construction is taking place. That puts us right in the epicentre of the action, allowing us to provide the range of practical and management expertise essential to offer the highest quality of performance to the project itself.

We know that our clients demand that their cargo is delivered safely to the right place for the right price, at the right time.

With our proven logistical talents, obstacles exist for just one reason. To be overcome.

Information Technology

Our expertise is not confined to air, sea or land.

We're also adroit navigators of the Information fibre-optic and copper highway. Ever since the inception of the company, we have driven the boundaries and ensured it remains a core activity to recognise and keep ahead of any technical advancements.

We have long been pioneers in the use of integrated computerised intelligence within our systems and our structure, developing our own software and programmes designed specifically for our own procedures as well as those of our clients. Of course,

IT is only as good as the people who operate it and ours is operated by the best. Every employee is trained to the highest standards of computer dexterity and know-how to ensure we get the best from our innovative approach to the way we do business.
