Policy Statement

This Policy sets out the Company's zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery. The Company is committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all its business dealings and relationships and implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in its UK or Global business operations.

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. The Company recognises this takes various forms, such as slavery, servitude, forced and compulsory labour and human trafficking, all of which have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain.

The Company is committed to ensuring there is transparency in its business and in its approach to tackling modern slavery throughout its supply chains, consistent with its disclosure obligations under the Modern Slavery Act 2015. The Company expects the same high standards from all of its suppliers, contractors and other third parties. As part the Company's contracting processes, it expects that its subcontractors will hold their own subcontractors/suppliers to the same standards set out in this policy.

The Company's directors have overall responsibility for ensuring that this policy complies with the Company's legal and ethical obligations, and that all those Staff and Third Parties under its control comply with it.

This policy does not form part of any employee's contract of employment and the Company may amend it from time to time, albeit with updated versions formally issued accordingly.

Who does this Policy Apply to?

This policy applies to all persons working for Transcar Projects Limited (the "Company") or on its behalf in any capacity, including employees at all levels, directors and officers ("Staff") , and third parties including agency workers, clients, agents, subcontractors, suppliers, seconded workers, volunteers, interns, external consultants ("Third Parties").

Scope and Purpose of the Policy

This policy describes how the Company will prevent, detect (through effective controls and notification techniques) and report modern slavery in any part of its business or supply chains.

The Company aims to encourage openness and will support anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this policy, even if they turn out to be mistaken. The Company is committed to ensuring that no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of reporting in good faith their suspicion that modern slavery of whatever form is or may be taking place in any part of the business. Detrimental treatment includes dismissal, disciplinary action, threats or other unfavourable treatment connected with raising a concern. See also Section 19 - Anti-Harassment & Anti-Bullying Policy within IMS-3.5 – Company Staff Policy Manual.

If any staff believe they have suffered any such treatment, the individual should inform either their manager or the HR representative immediately. If the matter is not remedied, an employee should raise it formally in accordance with the Grievance Procedure, as detailed in Section 16 of IMS-3.5 - Company Staff Policy Manual.

Compliance with the Policy

All Staff and Third Parties must comply with this policy and are required to avoid any activity that might lead to, or suggest, a breach of this policy.

All Staff and Third Parties are required to raise any concerns about any issue or suspicion of modern slavery in any parts of the Company's business or supply chains of any supplier tier at the earliest possible stage.

If any Staff believe or suspect a breach of this policy has occurred or that it may occur the individual must notify either their manager or senior management. Third Parties should notify a senior Company point of contact, i.e. Managing Director, General Manager or Line Manager.

If Staff or Third Parties are unsure about whether a particular act, the treatment of workers more generally, or their working conditions within any tier of the Company's supply chains constitutes any of the various forms of modern slavery, this should be raised as set out in this Policy.

Whilst this Policy is also referenced from within the Company Staff Policy Manual, all managers are responsible for ensuring that this Policy and the Company's zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery is communicated to all employees and for ensuring that those individuals reporting to them understand and comply with this Policy and are given adequate and regular training as applicable on the Policy and the issue of modern slavery in supply chains.

Management have day-to-day responsibility for implementing this Policy, monitoring its use and effectiveness, dealing with any queries about it, and auditing internal control systems and procedures to ensure they are effective in countering modern slavery.

All managers who are responsible for procurement of goods and / or services must ensure that this Policy and the Company's zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery is communicated to all Third Parties during the procurement process and / or at the outset of each business relationship.

Managers are responsible for ensuring that:-

- all relevant existing Third Party contracts include obligations to comply with the Modern Slavery Act 2015;
- new Third Party contracts contain applicable prohibitions against the use of forced, compulsory or trafficked labour, or anyone held in slavery or servitude, whether adults or children.

Managers may utilise the Template Letter in Schedule 1 (IMF56 – Anti-Slavery Letter of Compliance) for amending existing contracts and Template Contract Clauses in Schedule 2 for inclusion in all new contracts entered into following the launch of this Policy.

Investigations & Disciplinary Action

Any employee who breaches this policy will be subject to disciplinary action, which may result in dismissal for misconduct or gross misconduct.

The Company consistently reserves the right to terminate its relationship with other third parties if they are discovered to be in breach this policy.
